Adherents Urge That This Is First Time Democrats of New England Have Had Opportunity to Dictate

Statements by close political lieutenants of Governor Foss relative to the approaching contest for the Democratic presidential nomination at Baltimore, indicate that the Governor expects to be the winner of the coveted honor and also the next occupant of the White House at Washington, publicly of his candidacy for the presidential nomination. Further than to say that he knew many business and professional men were advocating him as the logical choice for standard bearer of the Democratic party during the approaching campaign and expressing his belief that they would not have to wait long to see some development along this line that would interest them more, the Goverinterviewed recently.

There is said to be a feeling among some of those with whom the Governor consults that he should be content with the vice-presidential nomination, proto Representative Underwood of Al-Messrs. Underwood and Foss, declare those in this wing of the Governor's boomers, would prove a winning that the Governor, however, prefers that the campaign slogan shall be "Foss and Unde good." Politicians generally bethat is satisfied with second place.

Democrats of New England have been able to go into a Democratic convention and say that they have a candidate who can carry the six states of New England.

Two business meetings of the Armenian Student Union of America are being held today at Rogers building, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Speakers will be the Rt. Rev. Moushek Seropian. Armenian bishop of Boston and representatives of the Armenian press of America.

A public meeting in connection with the celebration is to be held in Paine Memorial hall tomorrow.

One of the interesting exhibits at the public library in connection with the meeting is a copy of the first Armenian newspaper printed in America. The paper is called Liberty and was published for the first time in New York city in 1888.

doing it is to cut off the money for the salary of the judges. As we have before said, this seems to us to be a mistaken way of going about the business. If the experiment of the commerce court was worth trying at all, it was worth a thorough trial, and that Without a Coil it has not yet had. Congress was rash either in establishing the court loo hastily, or in doing away with it without further consideration.

KANSAS CITY TIMES-There is a place for the commerce court, in relieving other courts of the railroad cases that would come 'efcre them under the administration of the interstate commerce law, but there is no good reason why its an hority should extend beyond that of other courts. To allow it to do so would unnecessarily complicate and entangle the functions properly belonging to the interstate commerce commis-STOKANE CHRONICLE-The decision of the supreme court that the commerce court is not the higher authority whose approval is necessary for all acts of the commission, but is merely a court, with no more than ordinary judicial power, exerted in a particular class of cases, merely upholds the theory upon which the court was created.

CHICAGO RECORD-HERALD - But province by the supreme court of the nited States in a unanimous decision. I, is informed that it can pass only on issues of law; that it cannot grant relief to applicants where the merce commission has denied it; that it has been clothed with no new, "strange" powers, and that it merely inherited the jurisdiction of the circuit court judges.

ONE DAY SALE-FOR TUESDAY ONLY SUPERB ORIENTAL RUGS

Tuesday will undoubtedly be a day of very large selling throughout Chandler & Co.'s store—there seems to be a sequence in the selling of rugs with the day following Bunker Hill day-probably because many people go to their summer homes on that day and find that extra rugs are needed.

To make this day one of unusual interest this year Chandler & Co. have prepared a great sale of Oriental rugs. There was not time to purchase them-in fact, their rug buyer is now on his way to Constantinople, but they have recently received several bales from the bonded warehouse, which, with the rugs they had in their own stock for such a purpose, will comprise the offering, and every rug is at a special price. All the rugs in this sale will be comprehended in one great lot, and notwithstanding the

Not Only Are We Showing Larger and More Varied Summer Stocks Than Ever Before, but—It Is Needless to Say-We Are Much Better Prepared in This Respect Than Any Other Store in New England

This would be a broad, and not possible-to-verify, statement for any smaller establishment to make. Our buying relations, both in Europe and at home, are unequalled. We send more representatives abroad than any other one store in America. We maintain closer buying-connections with producers of every class of merchandise than any other store in New England. We provide for our patrons, from which to choose, more than twice as large a quantity of merchandise as any other Boston store. We are the distributing centre of as much merchandise in a twelvemonth as any three other retail houses in this city. Thus is it possible to depend upon this great establishment—in all of its 160 distinct selling sections—to satisfy your every want in whatever is new, correct and trustworthy.

This Association was formed to promote the continuance of the existing cordial relations between the employees and the company, and to protect the interests of both from outside interference.

Boston, June 13, 1912.

Gen. Wm. A. Bancroft, President, Dear Sir:-

We, the undersigned, object to the constantly repeated statement that the Elevated employees are on a strike. On the contrary twothirds of the men are loyally running their cars. It is absolutely untrue to say that the employees are on a strike because a small portion have suddenly quit their jobs. We have no trouble and never have had any in being recognized by the company, nor have we any complaint to make against the treatment we have received.

If the men who quit do not want to work, there should be nothing to compel them to. On the other hand, if we, the majority of your employees, want to continue to work without interference, we should be allowed to do so. If there is any right, it is the right to do what each one lawfully wants to without outside interference. That is all there is to it.

If those who left their positions do not want to work for the company let them keep away. We do want to work for the company and we want to be allowed to do so peacefully.

We earnestly request that you give this the widest publicity.

Boston, Mass., June 14, 1912.

To the President and Members of the Boston Elevated Fraternal Protective Association.

Dear Sirs:

We have received your letter of the 13th.

We fully agree with you as to what you say about the right to work without molestation or outside interference of any kind. The Public Authorities will give you full protection in the future, as in the past, in the exercise of that right.

We desire to state that our rolls show that the number of men who remain in the employ of the Company agree with those mentioned by you.

Your communication requests that we give it wide publicity, and we are accordingly causing the same to be published in the press.

USE WAXED PAPER

I almost, always managed to break my pies badly when I tried to slip them out of the baking tins as soon as they were taken from the oven, says a contributor to Suburban Life. One day the idea occurred to me to fit a sheet of waxed paper to the pie tin before placing the under crust. I find that this works most satisfactorily, for now my pies can remain on the pans they are baked in, without ever getting that 'tinny" taste, the objection to which had made me place them at once on china plates.

ALMOND STICKS

Almond sticks are a specialty for serving at afternoon tea, says the Ladies World. Beat well three whole eggs, add a pinch of salt and lemon juice to taste. Stir in one-half pound of powdered sugar, one half pound of flour and one half pound of whole almonds, not blanched. Spread on flat cooky tins to a depth of the thickness of an almond. Bake slowly 20 minutes. Cut in short strips while hot.

DAINTY EFFECT

Black velvet ribbon is far too effective to go quite out of use. One smart trimming is made in the form of a lattice work border which may be used in a multitude of ways and when worn with pale colored materials is very striking. Parasols are also trimmed with this lattice work, and if the parasol in question is made of china silk with a pattern of roses, the effect of trellis and flowers is very dainty.-Vogue.

CONSTRUCTIVE AIMS IN USING MOTION PICTURE

Great Invention Is Brought Into Play Increasingly as Superior Means to Aid Thought and Work

The idea of utilizing the motion picture more generally as a means of advancing education and as a factor in many lines of thought and activity is one to which authorities everywhere are devoting serious attention. Hence the following article, dealing with the possibilities along these lines, prepared by Rich. G. Hollaman, president of the Eden Musee Company, at whose place in New York city motion pictures were exhibited 16 years ago, may be regarded as highly informative as well as authoritative.

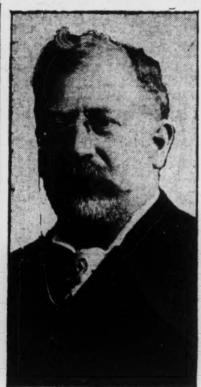

MOTION pictures were first exhibited to the American public as an amusement attraction at the Eden Musee, New York, 16 years ago.

Since that time, so popular has this fascinating art become that today there are 180,000 people employed in the industry and $60,000,000 invested in the business, on which amount large dividends are being paid to the investors. # No-Rim-Cut Tires 10% Oversize Now the Reigning Tires

Some 200,000 motor car owners have adopted this patent tire.

They have used to date 1.250,000. They are using now nearly 100,000 monthly.

No-Rim-Cut tires now far outsell any other tire in the world. And the demand has multiplied twelve times over in three years.

That is overwhelming endorsement. Don't you think this tire worth trying?

CUSTOM REGULATIONS TRAVELERS SHOULD KNOW

Passengers on steamers bound for the United States will receive a sheet of paper containing two forms of declaration. The one in black in for citizens of the United States; the one in red for non-residents. The law provides that citizens of the United States may bring in articles valued under $100, but there are restrictions relating to this which should be carefully noted. The following instructions are taken from the leaslet furnished by the treasury department. If in doubt regarding the meaning of any clause in the declaration or instructions the purser will explain.

Residents of the United States must declare all articles which have been obtained abroad by purchase or otherwise. Articles taken from the United States and remodeled, repaired, or improved abroad must be declared, and the cost of such remodeling, repairing, or improving must be separately stated.

Household effects, including books, pictures, furniture, tableware, table linen, bed linen, and other similar articles, unless used abroad by the owner for a period of a year or more. Goods in the piece. Articles of any nature intended for sale, or for other persons.

The following articles are free if under $100 in value and if necessary for comfort and convenience for the purpose of the journey, and not for sale nor for other persons: Clothing.

Toilet articles, such as combs, brushes, soaps, cosmetics, shaving and manicure sets, etc. Personal adornment, jewelry, etc., and cameras, musical instruments, etc. Clothing and other personal effects taken out of the United States by the passenger if not increased in value or improved in condition while abroad. If increased in value or improved in condition, they are dutiable on the cost of the repairs.

Non-residents of the United States are entitled to bring in free of duty, without regard to the $100 exemption, such articles as are in the nature of wearing apparel, articles of personal adornment, toilet articles, and similar personal effects, necessary and appropriate for their wear and use for the purpose of the journey and present comfort and convenience

Educational Institutions

TO PARENTS:

Your SONS and your DAUGHTERS are about to graduate from High School or College. Naturally you wish to see them enter upon commercial life in such a way as to COMMAND THE HIGHEST INCOME.

There Is One Business that Is Not Overcrowded: It Is that of Advertisement Writing.

Advertisement writers are in big demand. The supply is small and will be for some years yet. High salaries are paid. There is a constant search for capable writers of advertising (MEN and WOMEN) by department stores and advertising agents everywhere; also by a steadily increasing number of manufacturers and merchants.

Any MAN or WOMAN with a good common school education should write to us for particulars of our correspondence system of instruction. More than one of our graduates fills a $10,000 place; others, $6,000; any number earn $1,500 to $3,000 yearly.

The MONITOR says (May 15, 1912):

"THE POWELL SCHOOL OF ADVERTISING," of New York has been endorsed by a large number of advertising authorities and has been successful in training young MEN and WOMEN so thoroughly that they are now earning salaries and incomes far in excess of what they would have earned without this instruction. Even active business men have been enrolled as students and strongly endorse its benefits."

We are advertising in extra large space to the MONITOR because we believe in this paper and we KNOW that we are doing its readers a SERVICE in bringing our school to their attention. Our course of instruction is ESTABLISHED and SUCCESSFUL. We frequently DOUBLE or QUADRUPLE the incomes of our students who were already in business life. Illustrated prospectus free. WRITE TODAY to President Taft will veto the legislative bill even if it ties up his own salary indefinitely, if it comes home with the Hoke Smith amendment wiping out the five commerce court judges. Assurances to this effect have been received by Republican senators, who are confident he can sustaib his veto if the Smith amendment is retained.

Sentiment in the House is in favor of the Smith amendment, but there are lawyers in the lower branch who believe the Smith amendment is an unconstitutional ecroachment upon the rights of these judges to hold office during good behavior. These lawyers will oppose the Smith amendment, not so much because they are in sympathy, many of them, with the movement for the abolition of the court, but because they have a higher regard for the constitution as they interpret it in this connection.

The indications are, however, that the House will disagree to the Senate amendments to the bill and ask for a conference and that the real fight in the House will come when the conference report is submitted.

Business Is Comparatively Light on the Exchanges and Tone Is Weak -Awaiting Developments

LONDON VERY QUIET

Stocks have been somewhat on the downgrade again this week. The move ment, which has been narrow, is regarded as natural because of the high prices prevailing and the nearness of the national conventions. The fact that trading has been light is looked upon as indicating a scarcity of securities in the hands of the public. The tone turned distinctly weak yesterday. The principal unfavorable features of the situation are political agitation and labor

The favorable features are the excellent crop outlook and business expansion, fundamental conditions which outweigh the unfavorable. However, the high prices already established make operators very conservative so far as trading on the long side is concerned. Prices usually seek a lower level about the time the national conventions are held and there Lehigh Valley ____170% 171 170 170% those of the banner year. #### GOOD STEEL TRADE

Notwithstanding the customary slight reactions which occur at times in some lines of trade the tendency is till toward expansion. By reason of continued cool weather and other conditions that may be considered temporary and incident to some particular lines of business the situation in general is not as satisfateory as many wish for, but on the whole conditions are favorable. Bradstreet's State of Trade says:

"Crop advices considered as a whole are favorable and industrial operations, ing the high, low and last sales today, particularly in the iron and steel trade, are active, but the trade reports manifest irregular tendencies, which make it difficult to select a keyword that would be sufficiently comprehensive and descriptive.

GERMANY SEEKS AMERICAN MONEY

NEW YORK-Germany is said to be bidding again for money on this market. This time the loans are principally for 30 days and 51/2 per cent is bid. Some money has been loaned at that figure.

The loans are to carry over July I.

German bankers, however, have been active before this date in preparing for the coming half-year financing. But to avoid showing their hands at this time, when they would have to pay higher for accommodation, they borrowed in the latter part of May two months money.

German bankers, however, have been defined the consulting and Auditor, Appearance of the conting to the counting agriculture of the counting agri One bank is said to have loaned as much as $6,000,000 for this maturity to Berlin. Whatever loans our bankers already have in Germany that mature on July 1 will undoubtedly be renewed for another term as there is no object in adding to present stocks of iale funds here.

The 1901: report shows that the property was greatly improved during the year, several additions having been made in the various departments.

Gross and net earnings per mile during the last fiscal period were the most favorable in the history, of the property. The operating ratio was slightly higher than in the previous year, although, as compared with 1908 and 1907, represents a liberal saving in this respect. There has been a gradual improvement in per mile operations of the property for a number of years past. For instance, in 1907 gross per mile was about $36,200, $48,000 per mile in 1911, and the 1907 net per mile was less than $17,000, as against $25,500 last year.

The following table shows some important operating statistics for each of the last four years:

Gr. per tr. m. $38,448 $40,908 $44,128 $48,016 Net pr tr m. 19,168 22,360 23,600 25,535 Net pr tr m. 19,168 22,360 23,600 25,535 Ratio op. ex. to gr......50.15% 45.34% 46.52% 46.82%

Growth in earnings of the Havana Electric has been noteworthy during the past seven years, as is shown in the following table. In 1905 the gross was only about $1,500,000, which compares with more than $2,991,000 during the 12 months ended Dec. 31 last. The 1905 net was about $785,800, as against about $1,500,000 in 1911 and so on. Therefore, it is to be noted that during the past last fiscal period there was left a surplus of about $222,000, which is nearly as large as the surplus in 1905, when ings per day during each month of the no dividends were paid.

In the appended table will be noted the gross and net earnings, dividends paid and surplus yearly from 1905 to

It is generally considered that negotiations for an Austrian loan in France, tentative efforts in the direction of which have been made so frequently, will be shortly resumed.

TO HEAR OPINION OF

LONDON-At the opening sitting of the international radio-telegraphic conference, Herbert Samuel, the postmaster general, speaking in French, greeted the delegates in the name of the King and the government.

He said that since 1906 when the radio-telegraphic convention was arrived at, wireless telegraphy had increased rapidly in importance. It could not be supposed, however, that a convention could anticipate all the developments in the application of a young and vig-orous science. It had become evident that the regulations made in 1906 required to be extended, improved, and even in part recast. With regard to compulsory installation of wireless telegraphy on board ships and the possibility of arriving at unapimity in the laws which each country might enact, Mr. Samuel declared that his majesty's government would welcome the opinion of the assembly on the subject.

The Business Situation

ONE of the most important features of the business situation in the United States is the large volume of exports of steel products. Inasmuch as steel is the backbone of the manufacturing industry of this country it, is gratifying to know that the shipments of steel products abroad have been increasing at a rate little less than phenomenal. In April, for example, the iron and steel exports reached the record total of almost 258,000 tons, having a value of nearly $28,000,000. Should this rate continue it would mean a total for the year of 3,000,000 tons compared with about 2,200,000 tons last year. In value steel exports for the year would be about $321,478,236, compared with $250,000,000 last year. The constantly increasing demand for American steel products abroad is a stimulus to trade that is not altogether appreciated. The export trade has sustained the steel business of the country when other lines of industry have quieted down. It is reasonable to assume, too, that in expanding their export steel business manufacturers of this country are not depriving manufacturers of other countries of any of their regular trade. The range of industrial activity is broadening with the growth of civilization so that there is exceptional opportunity for the expansion of American iron and steel business without unnecessarily invading territory that has been looked upon as belonging to manufacturers of other countries. In other words there is room for all. At the same time, competition is becoming keen. They are making considerable steel in China now, and with cheaper labor employed, the cost of manufacture is much less than it is in the United States. When China awakens to its opportunities in an industrial way, other steel-making countries will be forced to make new adjustments in order to continue success-

The report of the government on the cereal crops, issued this week, taken as a whole was altogether satisfactory. The only important unfavorable aspect presented by the statement was regarding the condition and indicated yield of winter wheat. That crop will be the smallest of any in the past thirteen years, according to figures to be deduced from the statement. At the same time, too much stress should not be laid upon this feature. The loss in winter wheat will be almost wholly compensated by a larger spring wheat crop. Then the oats and barley crops are practically at their best. The hay yield very likely will be the largest that has been harvested in years. Notwithstanding last year's small hay crop, its value ran $100,000,000 ahead of the value of the wheat crop. Of course this was largely due to the higher prices prevailing for hay in the markets, on account of the small supply. If this year's harvest turns out as now expected, it certainly should check the rise in meat and dairy prices and materially reduce the cost of living.

General business is swinging along at a vigorous pace. Clouds of doubt and fear are vanishing. There is enough uncertainty as to the final outcome of the crops, of the elections, and of labor difficulties to give a conservative attitude among manufacturers and merchants and to check any tendency to overdo a good thing. Despite the caution which governs nearly every department of industrial activity, however, business expansion continues. The feeling is more optimistic as to the future and the outlook certainly warrants greater confidence.

Aviation in Latin America It was a foregone conclusion that French leadership in aeroplane flights would make the sport as popular in South America as everything else that comes from the country which the Latins of the western hemisphere call the torch of civilization. As reported from time to time in the Monitor, there have been and continue to be quite a few flights by men of various nationalities, while it must not be forgotten that Latin America has given the French contingent some of its most daring aviators. Nevertheless, it was hardly to be expected that the new vehicle would so quickly and so enthusiastically be seized upon by the military element. What is being done in the Argentine Republic toward organization of an aerial fleet is already causing some concern in the neighboring countries, notably Brazil, where a metropolitan paper recently published a cartoon showing an Argentine aerial fleet descending on Rio de Janeiro and reducing it to a heap of ruins. In an article entitled "A Fancy That May Become a Reality," the paper calls attention to the ease with which a small number of aeroplanes, not more than twenty or so, could raze the metropolis to the ground, in the eventuality, happily remote as the article hastens to add, of a war between the two great rivals.

It is quite unlikely that either Brazilians or Chileans will stand by and see the Argentine Republic gain a permanent lead in aerial navigation. Nor can the smaller nations of Latin America fail to perceive the enormous advantage the new vehicle affords the weak, through its unique equalizing tendency. Behind all initial efforts of South Americans to utilize the aeroplane on a large scale and systematically, there is bound to be the same motive that is impelling the movement in the Argentine Republic; that is, the defense of the fatherland. But the wonderful constructiveness of the aerial vehicle, and its scope, differentiate it entirely from any other contrivance that is pressed into the service of military operations, inasmuch the more it is developed for military purposes the more it must prove itself infinitely better adapted for economic conquests.

In the case of South America there is especial inducement for developing aerial navigation to the utmost. That is the tremendous obstacle which nature has put in the way of communication between the Pacific and the Atlantic sides through the chain of the Andes mountains. Railroad construction across the cordillera is not only fraught with very great technical difficulties but presents financial risks that have in many instances proved prohibitive. It would be difficult to imagine a part of the world that offered a more comprehensive scope for the aeroplane than the southern continent from Panama to Patagonia.

FORMER Vice-President Fairbanks won the first prize for billposting the other day, and later he won admission to the Chicago convention. Things are apparently turning his way.

Women suffragists are not the only seekers for recognition who will formally visit committees framing platforms for the Republican and Democratic conventions. Special delegations from other reformatory bodies will appear, and receive that measure of consideration which the supposed voting strength of the suppliants makes politic. In many cases there will be no tangible result registered in the platform, though the outlook for reformers is brighter this year than in many past contests. Within the past decade or two a body of civic servants has been educated and trained who are comparatively indifferent to the ordinary aspects of politics but who have been enlisted in administrative affairs to an increasing extent under the McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft administrations. Their organ of opinion is the Survey. Their point of view with respect to government is reflected in writings like those of Goodnow and Howe. They furnish public officials of the type of Miss Lathrop, who is to be the head of the newly-created national children's bureau. They are profoundly interested in conservation of human life as well as of property, and if a choice has to be made they put persons before goods.

Now it is to be noted that a group of these folk announce that they are to visit Chicago and Baltimore to ask that the historic parties include in their working program something besides tariff reform, expansion of trade, regulation of transportation, the Sherman law, and kindred themes. These social welfare experts want something said and done about reduction and control of hours of labor, especially for women and children forced to work at night; fixing of a minimum wage, insurance against unemployment, and accident compensation. These leaders in social reform have back of them, in ever increasing number, two groups of the population, the intellectuals and the wage earners; and the candidates for the presidency are sure to be weighed, this year more than ever before, by their evidences of sympathy for this new form of civic demand.

NEWSPAPER correspondents who have no time to see anything but politicians in Chicago will have opportunity after the Republican national convention to see nothing but politicians at Baltimore. This is one of the things that give so much piquancy to romantic journalism.

An increasing number of people are claiming that the highcost-of-living problem will eventually be solved by the keeping of goats on the premises, but it remains to be settled whether, under such circumstances, the lower cost of living would be worth while.

A' CAMPAIGN against the billboard nuisance has begun in France. We shall see in time whether it will end by making a series of such campaigns unnecessary. If it does, America will want to learn how.

Club Women in Convention

THERE is descending upon the city of San Francisco an army which, before June 25, when the various contingents of the General Federation of Women's Clubs reach the Pacific coast, should present a spectacle unique and significant in the history of American gatherings. No less than 10,000 club women are expected to be on hand when Mrs. Philip N. Moore, as president of the federation, calls the convention to order. To bring the idea of their unity strongly before the country, and to add to their own comfort and pleasure while en route, the delegates from the East elected to travel by special train from the Grand Central station, New York. It is not to be overlooked, however, that diplomacy may have actuated such a move of the eastern club members since a conspicuous candidate for the presidency is Mrs. Philip Carpenter of Yonkers. If there is any lobbying to be done, what better opportunity than that presented when hundreds of delegates rest at their ease in finely appointed Pullman cars?

This eleventh biennial convention of the general federation is looked forward to as an event of great interest not only to those within the clubs but to women in general. Some of the subjects to be discussed concern every family in the land. The question of suffrage is by no means the most significant to be deliberated. Matters much closer to the home will be treated by those who have given much time to necessary investigation following the last convention in Cincinnati, two years ago. It is needless to say that San Francisco will aim to entertain in a fashion to give notice that when the Panama-Pacific exposition opens, in 1915, the city will merit the credit of the nation on the score of hospitality. Nor is it difficult to believe that with all the problems before the women clubs today, the delegates to the convention will strive to make use of the San Francisco opportunity, both in the direction of business and pleasure. It broadens the vision to travel, and in the case of the delegates from the Atlantic coast states, to see the "magnificent distances" between the two oceans should be an education in itself.

IN BALTIMORE an earnest effort is to be made to prevent unnecessary noise in the convention hall. Yet there is danger that an effort to determine what convention noise is unnecessary will consume almost as much valuable time as the demonstrations.

As THE Nestor of the world peace movement, Frederick Passy stood for achievements which reflect credit on other nations besides France.

Railroads

Tourists

AMERICAN railroad systems need scarcely look to other enterprises for advice in respect to the value of publicity. There is ample evidence that passenger traffic representatives know their business, and also that through their efforts travel has been increased to a very great extent. That there is still something missing, however, was brought out in a rather forceful manner by the general agent of one of the leading railroads entering Chicago, speaking at a recent dinner to more than 200 passenger agents of lines connecting that city with the West. The gist of the argument advanced was that not enough was being done to make Americans acquainted with their own country. The further claim was made that it was for the railroads to rectify this state of affairs.

As a result of the Chicago gathering steps have been taken toward the formation of an organization which will pledge the railroads in an agreement to do all in their power to interest tourists in the scenic beauties of the North American continent. Every year between $350,000,000 and $400,000,000 is being spent by Americans in Europe, and there is hardly any question but what travelers for pleasure abroad get their money's worth. Otherwise the tourist of one European season would not be so ready to repeat the experiment. On the other hand, there is a good deal to be learned about the western world, which for natural beauty and impressiveness cannot be surpassed. There would seem to be some good cause why the railroads should be anxious to increase their traffic where so many things in scenic America induce Europeans to come here.

Social Welfare Planks

If the railroads wish to make American scenery yield them greater revenue this cannot be done through the distribution of handsome literature alone. It is true, perhaps, that the utmost care is used in making this pictorial representation on a par with the original. But travel, at all events, is an item that demands careful planning and meditation. To turn the tide of American travel either west or east makes carfare still the consequential issue. The railroads that are determined to infuse new interest in travel have not yet revealed how this is to be done, but it may be expected that the fresh inducements to be offered will bear substantially on the whole question.

THE blueberry crop is said to be excellent this year, but it will have hard work superseding the strawberry crop while the season for the latter is on. Sensitive people hesitate to speak of the size and lusciousness of the strawberries they have eaten recently, save in the presence of intimate friends.

THAT clambake tendered by a New Englander to creditors of some years ago satisfied all appetites if each got his desert in the shape of a full payment of indebtedness.

IT WILL be difficult enough to get into the Chicago convention hall, but what with that crowd on hand it will be almost as difficult · to get out.

THE commencement season is one that concerns many others than those who graduate after striving to do their best at school.

Coincident with news of manufacture of steel on the Pacific coast comes information of successful extraction of free nitrogen from the air by an electro-chemical company in North Carolina, the keystone of success in both cases being use of water power converted into electricity and in turn into heat. For lack of cheap fuel, valuable iron deposits on the Pacific coast have largely gone unde-veloped. That era has closed. With home production assured henceforth, and with iron from China in billet form now laid down in San Francisco at rates that only hint at what Asiatic competition is destined to mean, manufacturers and builders on the Pacific coast face quite a different outlook from that of the past; and southern and eastern makers of iron and steel would do wisely to adjust themselves accordingly.

If the United States at large, and the South especially, henceforth can rely on cheaper fertilizers as the result of the successful experiment on the Catawba river, here also will be registered an economic revolution of far-reaching importance. In Scandinavia and Germany experimenting with the process of taking nitrogen from the air and combining it with lime has proceeded past the stage of conjecture as to feasibility and commercial worth. Man only vaguely apprehends yet the social and economic transformations to be wrought by electricity produced as cheaply as it can be where water and the force of gravity are harnessed for its production. He knows enough already, however, to justify him in seeing to it that the sources of supply of this new power shall not be corralled and monopolized for the enrichment of the few as deposits of coal have been.

THE plan of the Duchess of Marlborough for the establishment of a juvenile colony in England bears a considerable likeness to that of the George Junior republic in the United States.

WHILE the American warships are off Cuba, Washington thinks Havana had better not bother too much as to when they are to leave.

THE Grand Trunk appears to be filled with just such articles as an ambitious railroad needs for doing business.

THE FIERCE controversy that now divides civic reformers of New York city anent setting up in Central park the ornate and wholly satisfactory building in which the Lenox library on Fifth avenue used to be housed, illustrates how contemporary issues of city planning create divisions corresponding to those of national politics and of government in general. Wholly admirable is the purpose of the radicals to save for the people and for outdoor uses all the area now set apart for parks. Vigilance must be shown lest a camel, getting his head under the tent-flap, in the course of time drive out the owner of the shelter. But there are buildings and buildings; and it is quite suitable and natural that the parks should be administered from a park center, not from a downtown business block or city hall. Were the building which Mr. Frick offers to provide freely for the city a monstrosity, or were it proposed to take for the re-erected structure park space not now used, it would be easier to understand the fierce opposition. But the building is one of the finest examples of the work of Hunt; the project of its re-erection has the indorsement of the art commission of the city; and it is to take the place of a monstrosity instead of being one.

Excesses of the vigilant and virtuous are often most wearisome. They often arise from suspicion and distrust of the future, and from unwillingness to believe that patriotism abides from generation to generation. Fear of establishing precedents that may be perverted to unsocial ends often restrains good people from countenancing acts intrinsically excellent. In the very nature of things it is certain that New Yorkers must value their parks more, rather than less, in the future. Consequently any substantial later attack upon them must fail. Only present duty has to be faced now.

WITH the associated Harvard clubs meeting in New York the distance from Cambridge to the metropolis has been shortened metaphorically by some miles for the present.
